We would ask that the school children please refrain from getting into or sitting on any of the exhibits here. Please treat the displays with the same respect and pride as they are shown here for you. We hope your time will be well spent and that you can go home with an appreciation of how your forefathers lived, worked, and died. If you have questions about the exhibits, please ask someone to explain it to you. We hope you enjoyed your trip back through time and hope you can come back next year. A special thank you to each school for letting us share our past heritage with your children. Thank you for visiting our show today!
